Welcome to the fabulous city of Warriorville. This progressive city is located on the western coast of Sicily. Here, in Warriorville, we are constantly trying to invent new things to handle any problem the future throws at our city.

Our transportation systems are the finest. Our cars are solar powered so that the environment is not polluted. There are also hover cars. As a safety feature, we have installed all positive magnets on the borders of the cars so that they repel one another, which makes accidents a thing of the past.

Our citizens enjoy a relaxed home life. We have robot maids that do the best cleaning in the world. In 2145, we solved the problem of stress by installing a massage program into the maids. It is reported that they are giving the best foot massages.

We have the best education in the area. The problem of kids disliking their teachers has been solved. The students take online courses. These online courses display holograms of the teachers. You can choose what type of hologram you want to help the learning process.

All of our workers are well paid. Since our workers are well paid, they are happy to do any task that they are appointed. All of our workers carry a H.O.I. (Handheld Organizing Instructor) that teaches them anything they want to learn while on site. This is possible because we have excess power, which we sell to our neighbors through our high tech power lines.

Our power supply is generated by fusion, solar, and microwave plants. Our plants float above the city right next to the flying shield generators that protect our city from invaders and ultra-violet rays. We have energy converters on each of the chimneys, which clean the smoke and turn it into clean air. The deposits of the purification process are converted into extra energy. With the smoke being cleaned we have eliminated the problem of acid rain.

So, as you can tell, here in Warriorville, we are constantly advancing our technology. We hope you come to our city today, because we can guarantee a better tomorrow!
